About College and Hospital :

Visionary and staunch admirer of Indian culture and heritage, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel motivated Vaidya Sunderlal Joshi, a freedom fighter and Ayurvedic physician to start an institution in Nadiad as a part of freedom struggle with patriotic motive of encouraging education and health care in Ayurveda through an institutional system. The J. S. Ayurveda Mahavidyalaya (including Ayurveda Hospital, which was later on named as P. D. Patel Ayurveda Hospital) in Nadiad, the oldest in Gujarat, was established in 1938. This institute and its professional and non-professional staff worked hard in the direction of fulfilling his dream. As a result of a steady and continuous pace of progress, this institute attained a global status, known for its standard education, notable success in the management of chronic illnesses including various serious diseases like chronic renal failure etc.

On 1st September 2007, the institute has switched over from grant-in-aid to Self Financed Institute (SFI), hence this day is celebrated as Svanirbhara Divasa every year. Presently the institute is having intake capacity of 100 seats for B.A.M.S., 40 seats for P.G. and Ph.D. in 7 subjects. The institute is accredited with NAAC and NABH as well as got 4-star rating in GSIRF for its quality educational and health services. Attached Sundar Ayurveda pharmacy is also having GMP certificate.

J. S. Ayurveda Mahavidyalaya and P. D. Patel Ayurveda Hospital are now constituent institutes of Maganbhai Adenwala Mahagujarat University and managed by Mahagujarat Medical Society, Nadiad. The society also manages an allopathy hospital with specialities including cardiology, vascular surgery and oncology units along with general hospital and one Nursing College.

8th International Conference and Pre Conference Workshop on “Ayurvedic management of various chronic disorders”

Pre Conference Workshop : 30th & 31st August, 2024

International Conference : 1st & 2nd September, 2024

Kayachikitsa and other clinical branches of Ayurvedic medicine are widely practiced in India and around the world. In the recent times, a lot of research work and advancement has taken place in the field of Ayurveda medicine for many of the chronic diseases including some of the anukta vyādhi i.e. chronic kidney disease, ulcerative colitis, nephrotic syndrome, covid-19 infection etc. These knowledge, research results and experiences of professionals need to be disseminated among the concerned people in India and abroad. Further common and well accepted research protocols and some SOPs in the field need to be developed for creating evidence-based database.

In order to facilitate exchange of knowledge, experience, recent trends and advancement in the field of kayachikitsa and other allied clinical subjects, the college and hospital are holding two days international conference along with pre-conference workshop between 30th August to 2nd September, 2024; to explore the evidences on Ayurvedic management of various chronic ailments. This includes a two-day workshop on principles and practice related to Ayurveda management of chronic disorders. The theme of this conference is “Ayurvedic management of various chronic diseases”. The goals are very lucid, covering each and every aspect of above-mentioned subjects. J. S. Ayurved Mahavidyalaya has decided to broaden the scope of the conference and included a wide range of sub themes. This will enable Ayurveda research scholars, practitioners or teachers working in any related field to participate in this conference.

J. S. Ayurved Mahavidyalaya cordially invites you to actively participate in this upcoming international conference and join hands with us to effectively explore the robust concepts of management in various chronic disorders. Original full papers related to the sub themes of the conference are invited from UG students, Interns, P.G., Ph.D. Scholars, Practitioners, Researchers and Teachers of all the concerned branches of Ayurveda and allied sciences. Preference will be given to the papers containing original research work.
