ABOUT KAUSHAMBI AND PRAYAGRAJ

Kaushambi district shares the glorious heritage of Prayagraj, and the district was carved out from it on 4th April 1997. During the time of Buddha, Kaushambi was among the most prosperous cities of India. Ashoka built a Jain temple and a pillar with Pali inscriptions here, which still stands today.

"Prayagasya Praveshshu Papam Nashwati Tatkshanam"

The city's spiritual significance is deeply ingrained in Hindu traditions, with Prayag or Teertharaj being considered sacred, as mentioned in ancient scriptures. The confluence of three rivers—the Ganga, the Yamuna, and the ethereal Saraswati—at Prayag is revered. The Mahakumbh, one of the largest pilgrimage events globally, takes place every 12 years in Prayagraj. This grand gathering attracts ascetics around the globe.
